

San Diego County Real Estate Analysis

Jack Phelan

September 6, 2026

1 Introduction

This report details findings from an analysis of San Diego County residential real estate data from January 2024 to April 2026. Accompanying visualizations can be found on tableau (link in this repository's readme).

2 Market Overview

Since the beginning of 2024, the median home price has steadily increased, going from an initial $851,000 to $999,000 in April 2026 (17.39% increase). March 2025 saw the highest median price for residential properties at $1,099,500.

March of 2025 also saw one of the lowest average days on the market at 7.06; the highest was June of the same year at 35.69 days. The average for the entire period was 16.06 days on the market.

3 Pricing Trends

Price per square foot followed similar trends overall, however featured a spike in June of 2024 to $1264.88, a 165.918% increase compared to the total average of $475.66. The county's average sold-to-list ratio (1.03 across the entire span) did not fluctuate significantly, only going down to 0.97 in July of 2025.

4 Market Activity

Since January 2024, the number of monthly new listings has increased a solid amount; from 900 in January 2024 all the way to 2,169 in April of 2026. At the same time, the number of homes being sold monthly has decreased, from 809 to 128 most recently. June 2025 features a large number of closed sales at 1,630, however this was both not sustained and lower than the number of new listings for that month (1,683). Compared to all other counties in California, however, San Diego featured the fourth highest number of closed sales across the entire timeframe, behind Los Angeles, Orange, and Riverside counties.

5 Competitive Landscape

For both volume and units, the top five offices in San Diego County were made up of almost the exact same brokerages, which can be found in the following table:

Rank	By Volume	By Units
1	Compass	Coldwell Banker West
2	Coldwell Banker West	Real Broker
3	Real Broker	eXp Realty
4	eXp Realty	Keller Williams
5	Keller Williams	Century 21 Affiliated

Table 1: Top 5 Offices by Volume and Units in San Diego County

Agents did not follow the same trend; the top five can be found below:

Rank	By Volume	By Units
1	Alan Shafran	Patti McKelevy
2	Patti McKelevy	Jessica Nieto
3	Deborah See	Jessie Rodriguez
4	Lyle Caddell	Melissa Westfall
5	George Fillippis	Shawn Black

Table 2: Top 5 Agents by Volume and Units in San Diego County

6 Summary

Key takeaways from this analysis:

- Home prices have steadily increased in the past two years, with occasional spikes and dips in the market.
- Average days on the market has decreased overall, despite increasing significantly in the second half of 2025 (along with number of sales).
- The number of new listings has followed an upward trend, although noticeably fluctuating month to month.
- The number of closed sales is inversely correlated with the median close price, and has been overall decreasing.
- Top brokerages in the county are consistent across volume and units, while top agents are varied.